VÆRKSTED FOR ÆSTETIKS

samtaler om praksis

– kunstnerisk forskning i teori, skrift og udsigelse

En båndet samtale mellem Jonas Georg Christensen og Eva la Cour. La Cour er uddannet billedkunstner (Det Jyske Kunstakademi, 2010) og kandidat i visuel antropologi (Freie Universität Berlin). La Cour har i de seneste år lavet et praksisbaseret kunstnerisk ph.d.-projekt (ved HDK Akademin Valand, Göteborg) med udgangspunkt i Svalbard og guide-figuren. Det er blandt andet dette projekt og la Cours afhandling – Geo-Aesthetical Discontent: Svalbard, the Guide and Post-Future Essayism – samt bevægelsen hen mod et forskningsprojekt, som vi taler om. Eva la Cour beskriver sin praksis sådan her:

“As an artist I am recurrently collaborating with friends, colleagues and becoming acquaintances, interested in temporal and relational forms of the image and image-practices. Drawing inspiration from strategies of montage, and using analogue film, video, text and display aesthetic elements, my works and performative demonstrations are often effects of lengthy and multifaceted investigative processes: E.g. in the archives of the National Museum of Denmark, at a research station in Greenland or among taxi drivers on Svalbard. Out of a fundamental dissatisfaction with the representational discourse, and its historical and colonial legacy, I seek for methodological reorientation of linear storylines towards new constellations between thinking and image, archive and social process, authenticity and authority. The navigation of relations, is often, in some way or another, a key concern in my individual work as well as in collaborative efforts across disciplinary affinities. Over the past ten years, I have exhibited internationally but also developed a consistent writing practice, as well as a role as educator and organizer. ...”
